New Year, New Art: What to See in the Bay Area This Month: Sahar Khoury, 'Orchard'

Jan. 15–Feb. 18

Rebecca Camacho Presents, San Francisco

In Oakland sculptor Sahar Khoury's second show in the Tenderloin gallery, the artist presents "landscapes" made of metal, ceramic, paper mâché and "wood pruned from the artists' own walnut and apple trees." Khoury's richly textured multimedia works often incorporate surprising combinations of made and found materials, mingling various fasteners (hardware, belts) with glazed ceramic surfaces bearing satisfying traces of the artist's hands.
