

HYPERALLERGIC

Packard, C. (2022, February 1). Your concise new york art guide for February 2022. Hyperallergic. Retrieved February 26, 2022, from <https://hyperallergic.com/707526/your-concise-new-york-art-guide-for-february-2022/>

Looking Back / The 12th White Columns Annual – Selected by Mary Manning

Installation view, Looking Back / The 12th White Columns Annual – Selected by Mary Manning, White Columns, 2022 (photograph: Marc Tatti; courtesy of White Columns)

When: through March 5

Where: White Columns (91 Horatio Street, Meatpacking, Manhattan)

After a pandemic pause on the tradition, New York's oldest alternative art space has opened the 12th iteration of its Annual, thoughtfully guest-curated by New York City-based photographer Mary Manning as a reflection on and response to their past year of art experiences. The exhibition features work by 25 intergenerational artists, including Patrick Angus, Aria Dean, Stewart Uoo, and Gordon Parks, and will be accompanied by a screening of Barbara Hammer's films at the Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual & Transgender Community Center.